

Scholarship of Teaching and Learning 2023 Call for Proposals

Published 3/29/2023 by Joanna Crabtree

Academic Quality invites full-time faculty interested in conducting research in teaching and learning to apply for funding with the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning (SoTL) at Seneca program.

SoTL is a field of research designed to bring teaching and learning together. The aim of the program is to provide full-time faculty with an opportunity to study their teaching practice enabling them to better meet the learning needs of their students.

Seneca will fund up to three SoTL projects to begin in the Fall 2023 academic year. Proposals are due Friday, March 31, 2023.

For more information visit the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning space on MySeneca or add your name to the Expression of Interest list.
